Dear Dwiki Rahman Khan,

On behalf of the faculty of the Department of Languages, Cultures & Applied Linguistics at Carnegie Mellon University, it is my pleasure to offer you unconditional admission - there are no outstanding academic or language requirements remaining before enrollment - into the one-year MA program in Applied Linguistics and Second Language Acquisition in English as a Second Language at Carnegie Mellon beginning in Fall 2027 and ending in Spring 2028. You will be joining a dynamic and interdisciplinary academic community. Our faculty are world-renowned scholars at the forefront of the research and methodologies associated with teaching language and culture, applied linguistics, and second language acquisition. Our MA students are regularly hired for teaching positions, admitted to further academic endeavors at the Ph.D. level, and employed by corporations and non-profit institutions.

The Masters in ALSLA Program involves completion of at least 90 program-required units of academic credit in two resident semesters (5 courses, 45 units per semester). Our website contains a detailed description of the program units required for degree completion. Within our department, we have several opportunities for specialized courses offered by our faculty in the areas of language program management, second language materials creation, online course development, and technology-enhanced language learning (see for example, The Kenner Room: Immersive Technology for Language and Culture) and outside of our department, the Eberly Center for Teaching and Learning provides assistance in professional development, especially with their Future Faculty Program and graduate student seminars. We will also advise you on coursework to supplement your program with courses from our Departments of English, History, and Philosophy as appropriate.

Importantly, we think you will find Pittsburgh to be a welcoming and stimulating environment where you will spend one of the most exciting years of your life. Pittsburgh is a vibrant city with professional sports (football, baseball, hockey, and soccer), a lively cycling community, and great parks within the city limits, in addition to world-class museums, and symphony, theater, and ballet events. Our campus also offers a great variety of cultural events and some designed specifically for our students. Pittsburgh is a very walkable city, and you will be able to find a place to live within walking distance or a short bus ride to campus.
